

WOOD COUNTY
DISTRICT PUBLIC
LIBRARY

MEET THE AUTHOR

Jerry Pallotta

Sunday, May 14 | 2:00 pm
Bowling Green Library Atrium

1BookBG asks an important question this year: Who Would Win? This year's 1BookBG author is Jerry Pallotta and features his many Who Would Win titles that show what would happen if animals faced off in the wild.

In partnership with local schools, WCDPL is proud to host an author visit with Jerry Pallotta on Sunday, May 14 at 2:00 pm in the Bowling Green Library Atrium, as well as offering his visits to local schools that same week. As a writer of over 30 years, Jerry is an award-winning author of children's alphabet books and imaginative fiction and has written over 90 books. Combining facts, research, humor, and realistic illustrations of the animals he writes about, his books are loved by families and children.

Families can join WCDPL as Jerry talks about his books and his experience as an author. After the presentation, there will be a book signing. Books will be sold at the event.

Local partners, including WCDPL and local schools, help to make literacy a reality in the lives of families all across the community. These author visits are made possible by the generous support of the Marjorie Conrad Estate.

