From the Principal:

January in Northwest Ohio is never boring and I hope you are all managing the disruptions without too much trouble. If the weather forecasters are right, it looks like we might continue a long standing tradition of snow days during Catholic Schools Week. Ever since that morning when Option C had technical difficulties, I get a little worried sending those early morning messages so please remember that we follow the decision made by Bowling Green City Schools. I will also post on social media if we are delayed or closed. I am keeping a close eye on the forecast to make a decision about Open House this weekend and will share that with you as well once Fr. Tom returns from his retreat tomorrow and we have a chance to discuss it.

*God's Blessings,
Andrea Puhl*
